New Type Dress To Make Easier Reading for Avalanche Subscribers

In line with the Avalanche's policy of giving its readers the latest and best, readers will find this issue set in a brand-new, modern type face. The new type face was especially designed for easy reading but it is also beautiful, giving a pleasing effect to the printed page. It is known as 8 point Excelsior No. 1. The type is not only fairly large but the letters are even and open, which prevents filling or smearing with ink. It was designed by experts, who consulted with eye-sight specialists and received their endorsement before putting it on the market. It will make the Avalanche easy to read for young and old, make the Avalanche better looking, and each page of news will be found to be much more inviting than formerly.

This new type dress, in which all news is set in this issue and will be set in the future, cost the Avalanche considerable money and we trust our readers will like it. In fact we would like to have an expression from them as to their reaction.

In order that our readers may test the readability of the old type and the new, we are showing, below, samples of each, with the old, discarded type at reader's left and the new Excelsior at the reader's right, as well as throughout the paper.

It has been mentioned before in the Avalanche that a drive is on to beautify the highway from Mt. Pleasant to Cheboygan and Grayling is already arranging to lead other towns in this project. The Civic League is offering prizes of $5 and $3 to the Gas Station making the greatest improvement toward beautifying its building and grounds. The same amounts will be offered in prizes to private property situated on the highway.

Car No. 99 At The Rialto Theatre

SATURDAY, APRIL 27. STORY OF MICH. STATE POLICE

One of the best melodramas to come from Hollywood in many a moon, "Car 99," at the Rialto, Saturday, April 27, should make even an anemic feel that he is suffering from high blood pressure. A fast-moving adaptation of Karl Detzer's Saturday Evening Post stories about the radio cars of the Michigan State Police is played to the hilt by such excellent veterans as Sir Guy Standing, Frank Craven and William Frawley and by a group of promising newcomers, including Fred MacMurray, Marina Schubert, Dean Jagger and Ann Sheridan.

Although the story centers upon Ross Martin, a rookie on the force, the film essentially is the record of a man hunt. And if there is anything more dramatic to mankind, then the nation's editors sadly misjudged their readers when they played up the search for Dillinger and for the kidnaper of the Lindbergh baby.

A band of bank robbers, led by a smooth and unscrupled master mind (Sir Guy Standing), and a grand performance, too, transfer their base of operations to a small town in Michigan. Twice they succeed in slipping through the police car cordon.

Each time by the narrowest of margins. When the time comes for Professor Anthony to pull his biggest job, he realizes his only chance is to paralyze the police radio communications system.

But even a master mind slips up at times, and what the wily old Professor Anthony forgot was that the Massachusetts police radio operated on the same wave-length as Michigan's. The grayhounds of the law get their orders by a phone-radio relay and the rookie trooper is in at the kill.

The chase scenes alone are enough to keep an average audience in a state of breathless excitement, but the picture possesses, also, a fund of comedy, and sufficient heart interest to placate the feminine film-goers.

Mr. Craven's characterization of the tobacco-chewing sheriff of Crow River, Sir Guy's Professor Anthony, Mr. Frawley's Sergeant Barrel and Fred MacMurray's playing of the rookie role contribute immeasurably to the story. And, in this general eulogy, a word of praise must be extended to Marina Schubert (daughter of Mme. Nina Koshetz, Russian soprano), and to Charles Barton for his swift direction.

West Branch Trout Festival May 2-3-4

West Branch, Michigan, April 22.—The eyes of the Trout World will focus on this community the week end of May 3-4-5 as the Fourth Annual Trout Festival opens in celebration of the wily browns, brooks and rainbows.

Activity will have in mind the fact that Ogemaw contains some of the finest trout waters in the state and prizes will be awarded the men who pull the best specimens from them. There will be fishing events, too, and the usual program that offers entertainment for those who fish as well as those who don't find their likings best fulfilled by wading the fast waters of the Ausable or other streams near distant.

Of much interest this year are the scenic drives, dipping and turning in and out of the rolling, picturesque Ogemaw hills. These routes, charted and mapped by the West Branch Chamber of Commerce several years have each year grown in popularity until thousands have been known to make the drives in a single summer season.

Old landmarks, lost cities, hidden lakes, mill sites, and lumber camps dot the wayside, wildlife shying away at the visitors' approach.

A festival queen will be selected from a field of ten cities in the neighborhood of West Branch and will reign during the festival.

CARD OF THANKS

We sincerely appreciate and thank all our friends for the kindness and sympathy shown us in our great sorrow. Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Wakeley and Family.

W. Branch Business Men Visit Grayling

ON GOOD-WILL TOUR OF N. E. MICH.

Led by Mayor B. S. Sargent, a delegation of West Branch businessmen visited Grayling Tuesday to discuss plans for various community festivals and carnivals to be held in 1935, and emphasize the fact that the fourth annual West Branch Trout Festival will be held there May 3, 4 and 5.

Dr. C. G. Clippert, was asked to present the story of the West Branch event to the Kiwanis club at its weekly meeting, and also encourage local businessmen to support sending a float for the festival parade as well as perhaps having the American Legion drum and bugle corps appear.

The West Branch visitors stressed the fact that last year, when several northeastern Michigan communities cooperated with one another, each fared better than during previous years when each tried to "go it alone." The feeling that if Grayling supports West Branch, then West Branch is morally bound to support Grayling was an accepted conclusion.

With the opening of trout season but a few days off, and this season means much to all Crawford county, the West Branch men were hopeful that all Michigan would indicate keen interest in the project, they have pioneered and carried on to brilliant success. The individual chiefly responsible is Henry W. Schultz, who was among the guests. Others were Burt Trombley, president of the Chamber of Commerce there, Jesse McKenna, Ralph Coulter, Bert Parliament, Louis Parker, Harrison Dadds, A. L. Nauman, and Mayor Sargent. From Grayling the group pushed northward to visit Gaylord, then swing northward through Mio and Rose City.

MARRIED ON EASTER SUNDAY

Miss Mabel Pankow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Pankow, became the bride of Mr. Robert J. (Curly) Richardson, son of Mr. Robert Richardson, of San Francisco, Calif., in a marriage service performed on Easter Sunday at 9:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents. Rev. Hans Juhl of the Danish-Lutheran church performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a very pretty gown of blue crepe and Miss Effie Hunter, her only attendant, also wore a blue crepe gown. Arthur Pankow, the bride's brother, was best man. The bride is a graduate of Grayling High school of the class of '34 and has been employed at the Avalanche office for some time.

Mr. Richardson was, until recently, district utilities inspector of the 4th forestry district, at Camp Higgins, Co. 672.

The young couple will remain at the home of the bride's parents until sometime in May when they plan to leave for California to make their home.

Congratulations and best wishes.

Children should be encouraged to participate in all athletic undertakings. It is rightfully a part of their proper development.

Legion Jottings

The Bugle and Drum Corps had a snappy practice Monday night at the school gym, and although there were several not in the line-up for roll call, the drums and bugles sure got a real workout. We wonder if Spike forgot the rest period. We hope his oil burner doesn't blow up again.

We are unable at this time to give the public any date to rely on for our three-act comedy drama "The Poor Married Man," but hope to have a date in the near future.

All members of the Bugle and Drum Corps are requested to be present tonight (Thursday) at the hall. It is getting close to time for us to have a show-up in public and you can't learn to play staying away from drills. So let everyone get out and then when we are called upon to play we won't have a lot of things to regret.

Invitations are being mailed out this week for the Homecoming July 14 to 21st inclusive and the committee hopes to get one in the hands of everyone who ever lived in this community. The Homecoming committees are going to meet and entertain the band managers and directors of Northeastern Michigan at the Legion hall Sunday, April 28th.

The Grand Ball to be held May 5 at Johnson's Rustic Dance Palace, Houghton Lake, near Prudenville, is being well advertised. This dance hall is the largest and most beautiful dance palace in this state and according to all accounts we will have a record attendance. The music is to be furnished by the well known 10 piece orchestra, the Maurice Rushlow's of Saginaw. This band doesn't need introduction as they have played thru-out Michigan and especially the larger dance halls for the past 14 years.

There is still room for a few more ex-service men to join our ranks, and when we get so many we haven't room, we will build an addition on our hall.

KALKASKA'S TROUT FESTIVAL APRIL 30, MAY 1

Kalkaska, our neighboring town on the west, will hold a trout festival this year on April 30 and May 1st, and folk from Grayling have been cordially invited to attend. With the new highway having been completed through to Kalkaska, its no truck at all to drive over there.

The opening of the Festival on April 30 has been definitely scheduled as follows: Coronation of Trout King at 1:00 p. m. Parade at 1:30 ending at park on Boardman river where fly and bait casting contests will be held. Also shooting events will be held there during the afternoon.

That evening the Liar's Club at the High School auditorium and the Ford Mountaineers will entertain.

On May 1st the dance in the evening with Sawyer's orchestra and the awarding of prizes between dances will be the main features.

The way some people contribute to the relief of the poor would make you think that the community has no needy.

The Mothers And Daughters Banquet

A beautiful spring-like setting, with pink and green as the color scheme, greeted the 160 mothers and daughters as they entered the dining room of Michelson Memorial church for their banquet Wednesday evening. The affair was given by the Woman's Club.

The gathering together of women of matured years, ranging from the young matrons to those whose faces showed the lines of beautiful old age, and their fair daughters was an inspiration in itself. But to sing together, laugh together, and exchange ideas together is bound to leave a fine lasting impression on all.

Mrs. Adolph Peterson, president of the Woman's Club, welcomed the guests with a few well chosen words, while Miss Norine Berry, acted as toastmistress, introducing in a very charming manner the numbers on the program.

Mrs. A. J. Joseph was general chairman and to her and her efficient committee is due the credit for the delightful affair. The banquet was served by the ladies of the Missionary society of Michelson Memorial church.

The program was most interesting. We are sorry that we are unable to comment upon the splendid features of it.

Chaplain Paquette Kiwanian Speaker

WHAT CCC CAMPS ARE FOR BOYS

Rev. Father Paquette, chaplain for the fourth district CCC camps, was the principal speaker at the Kiwanians' Wednesday noon meeting. Chaplain Paquette recently came to Grayling and succeeds Chaplain E. W. Todd who served here for the past two years. The latter, as formerly stated in the Avalanche, has been promoted to chief chaplain for Michigan and is stationed at Camp Custer.

Chaplain Paquette explained that the CCC camps were designated for the purpose of providing useful occupation for young boys where they may not otherwise render valuable service in the communities where they serve but also for the purpose of training for useful citizenship. These boys are from homes of high and low standards. We are trying to turn out good boys. These young men are of ages that are susceptible to influence. Many in their home lives spent their time in idleness while in camp their time is kept occupied. The President is trying to keep in the minds of the boys resourcefulness and good influence.

These boys come to town and at times may seem boisterous but instead it is mostly natural exuberance. The officers feel obligated to help these youngsters to help themselves and serve as daddies to them. The 400,000 boys in camp are built up on a spirit of honor, and we have obligations to support these projects. The officers would like to have the citizens have an interest in the boys as they are the hope of the future.

Dr. Sheets, superintendent of the state hospital at Traverse City will be the speaker next Wednesday.

Junior Play May Third

Keep the night of May 3rd an open date for at 8 o'clock that night the Juniors will don grease paint and costumes and present their play.

"Giri-Shy" is a hilarious comedy in three acts which takes place in a college town. Tom, who is giri-shy and his roommate who isn't, provide much entertainment. The cast is aptly chosen—even to Chuck Mayo (Donnie Smokey) who kidnaps the wrong girl, and Dean Morlow (Bill Entsminger) the dignified dean who falls in love even as do his college students. Other members include Leo Lovely, David Ward, Helen May, Ransom Murphy, Evelyn Sorenson, Yvonne Kraus, Zonella Wells, Blanche Wheeler, Loretta Sorenson and Jerome Brady.

Miss Berry, who for several years has had complete charge of directing the plays given by the Junior and Senior classes and who has turned out many successes, is once again rounding an amateur group into shape. These Juniors are an enthusiastic and ambitious class and with a fine play and directing behind them—cannot help but make "Giri-Shy" an outstanding success.

Tickets and reserved seats will be on sale at the Central Drug Store so get yours early and plan to be at the high school auditorium May 3.

Legion Dance At Johnson's Palace

On Sunday, May 5th, the Legion Drum and Bugle corps will open the season at the popular Johnson's dance palace with a dancing party. This is a benefit for the corps and Mr. Johnson is extending them every courtesy for the big event.

There will be music by the famous 10-piece dance band, Maurice Rushlow's of Saginaw from 9:30 p. m. to 2:00 o'clock a. m. Everyone cordially invited. Admission 50c per person.

A marble shaft ought to be erected to the man who was so interested in his job that he forgot to go to dinner.

WERE THE SUPERVISORS RIGHT?

Nobody will deny that the Board of supervisors of the county is the direct representative of the people of the county and as such is the custodian of the county property. Accordingly they have, by ordering the room in the courthouse that was used for the National Reemployment office vacated, politely let the people of Grayling know that this community is no longer welcome to use the courthouse for any purpose.

The county is required to provide an office for the county school commissioner when necessary. Mrs. Payne, the present commissioner, does her official work in her own home and comes to the courthouse only occasionally. For many years the jury room has been used by the county commissioner. Apparently the commissioner has been crowded out of this office, that she seldom used, by the federal land purchase commission.

For the past year the engineer for Grayling has been using this office in conjunction with the reemployment office, their work being somewhat allied. Since the closing of the reemployment office the engineer has continued to use the office. Now, according to the action by the supervisors he is ordered to vacate. And that means also that the council may no longer use the courthouse for its council meetings. And this order by the supervisors, deprives any justice of the peace from holding court in the building.

Unless the use of the courthouse for such matters as above mentioned, and many other affairs, interferes with the functions of county matters, we cannot be in sympathy with the action by the board.

An example of the generosity of our school board is quite in line with good, work-together spirit of public officials. Everyone knows that the schoolhouse is open for all kinds of public affairs. The school auditorium has been used for many kinds of gatherings. And the school gym is used almost every night of the year. Many of the CCC basketball teams, even those outside of the school district are permitted to use the gym whenever not in use for school affairs.

It costs a lot of money to build courthouses and schoolhouses and to maintain them. The money is already invested. If but little use is made of them then there is but little return for the money invested. The more they are used the more real return value is had.

Grayling has not a city hall for housing its offices and the use of the courthouse has been a real convenience. The use of the courthouse by the city engineer and the court room for council meetings has been appreciated. And when we realize that Grayling pays more than half of the county taxes it does seem that this use has not been unjustified. In case there is any added expense to the county by these uses no doubt the city would gladly meet the cost. But it looks to us as though there is a semblance of prejudice against the City of Grayling by some of the members of the county board. This isn't right, for Grayling needs and deserves friendly cooperation between it and the county. And the county needs and deserves the backing Grayling is able and always willing to give.

We are sorry indeed that the Board of supervisors has taken this step. Unfriendliness seems certain to arise and that is not a healthy condition in any community. We have no doubt but that if the City officials had been approached on the matter that it could easily have been adjusted to the satisfaction and the good of all concerned. As it is now the courthouse is closed to the affairs of Grayling and its people.

Fred Niederer, supervisor from Grayling township, was the only member of the board to vote against the motion.

Crawford county is a part of a new county reemployment unit, the other counties being Roscommon, Kalkaska and Missaukee. Either because of neglect or refusal by the board of supervisors to assist in maintaining his service by paying a portion of the cost of maintenance, the city of Grayling has paid out of its own funds $15 for each of the months of January, February and March; and for April, May and June it is paying $7.50 for each month. Had the city of Grayling not done this we would have been without a reemployment department in this county. In that case those men who were registered for work would have been out of luck. The registration list contains names from every township in the county. For the months of September and October the county paid into the reemployment fund the sum of $80.00 for each month and Grayling paid a like amount for each of the months of November and December.

The township of Grayling paid 6 1/2% of all the tax paid into the county treasury for the year 1934. Grayling township for the year 1934 paid the county $5,324.58 while the other townships combined paid but $2,969.02.

In view of these facts and also because of the fact that Grayling pays such a large portion of the costs of maintaining the county government it does seem that Grayling has been faithful and patriotic to the interests of the county. The city of Grayling is a part of the county and as such is entitled to all the rights and benefits belonging to the several county units. If we must fight for our rights, well, let's get going. Knowing the men who make up the members of the county board we are at a loss to understand why the opposition to Grayling is so nearly unanimous. There must be some cause for it. If we are wrong, why not let us know?

DELINQUENT TAX CANCELLATION

During the past few years, the people of Michigan have witnessed various attempts at taxation relief. Originally, the programs proposed for the aid of property owners delinquent in their tax payments were one, carefully considered measures designed to provide relief to taxpayers who were unable, through no fault of their own, to meet the obligations involving upon them as land owners. Now, however, there come certain unfair, senseless proposals that serve as a warning against any continuation of emergency measures such as such.

State Senator Moore, of Pontiac, has proposed that the state legislature enact legislation for the cancellation of all delinquent taxes of 1933 and prior years on consideration of payment by the property owners of current taxes. The unfairness of such legislation to the honest citizen who has scrupled and saved in order to meet his obligation to the state is obvious. Such legislation places a definite penalty upon honesty in citizenship and courts a dangerous attitude among members of the state government to shun the responsibilities accruing to them as citizens.

Any reasonable thought concerning the delinquent problem and even a casual research will prove sufficient to discount the belief that all present delinquent taxpayers are unable to pay their taxes. This is definitely the assumption taken by proponents of the Moore measure, but such is not the case. Statistics provide grounds for the claim a majority of the delinquent taxes are owed by speculators and holders of business property, and it is difficult to reconcile the home property taxpayer to the argument that he should pay his debt to the state while these other two classes of property owners are allowed to evade payment.

It is not difficult to imagine the eventual result of any such policy of tax relief being the refusal of all taxpayers to pay their taxes. The case is not dissimilar in many respects to the old age pension issue, and any recitation of the cause and effect of that particular taxation legislation is unnecessary. —Bay City Sunday Times.

WELCOME BACK LOAN SHARKS

A lot is being said about the interest rate on small loans. The perennial bill to reduce these rates is being battered about at Lansing. A great small loan bill at a previous session. The Marshall Evening Chronicle says: "The state of Michigan is preparing to welcome back the loan sharks, of which this state has been free since 1925. The state legislature has before it a bill reducing the interest on small loans to a point where the legal loan companies cannot operate but where the loan sharks with no overhead expenses, nothing invested excepting the money they put in loans, will come back to Michigan and illegally proceed to soak those who need small loans. This bill will automatically drive out of Michigan every decent, legitimate loan company. On the face of this bill it looks as if it were a move to reduce interest charges to those who must have small loans. The effect of it is exactly the opposite." The Russell Sage Foundation made an exhaustive investigation into the small loan business and recommends bringing such companies under state control and fixing the interest rate at three and a half per cent monthly, which experience has proven a workable one. —Dowagiac Daily News.

MRS. S. N. INSLEY HONORED

In recognition of the completion of fourteen years service as executive secretary of St. Ann's Community House, Hamtramck, by Mrs. S. N. Insley, open house was held at that institution on Wednesday of last week.

About two hundred people attended, among them many leaders in social-service and civic life of the community and the state. Present were Judge Healy of Wayne county, Juvenile Probate Court; Mrs. Edsel Ford, important in many projects for social improvement; Col. White, president of Hamtramck's Board of Commerce, and prominent officials of the League of Catholic Women under whose auspices the Community House is maintained.

Col. White spoke with enthusiastic and generous praise of the excellent work which Mrs. Insley had accomplished. Presiding at the tea-table were Mrs. Lewandowski, wife of the mayor of Hamtramck, and Mrs. Keyworth, wife of the Supt. of Public Instruction elect. Later guests were invited to inspect samples of handwork—knitting, weaving, crocheting, quilting, and some exquisite embroidered products of groups and classes connected with the House.

Mrs. Insley seemed especially happy to discover among her guests a number of friends whom she had known in Grayling. Her invitation was at once extended to include dinner and it was accepted by ten people. A most delightful evening followed for those so fortunate. These friends of long standing were gratified to note the very high regard and the deep sense of appreciation shown toward Mrs. Insley by the people of the community.

An idea of the scope of the work at St. Ann's may be gathered from the fact that fifty-nine groups and classes meet there regularly.

Germany Enraged by Her Condemnation by League Council—Work Relief Program Going Forward—Compromise Bonus Measure.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD
© Western Newspaper Union.

GERMANY was thoroughly enraged by the action of the League of Nations council in adopting the tri-power resolution condemning the reich for violating the treaty of Versailles by rearming, and it was expected Reichsfuehrer Hitler would make a defiant report. As a first step he sent from his Bavarian retreat instructions to Secretary of State Von Buelow to protest "England's attack on the German people." This Von Buelow did, delivering the message to Ambassador Sir Eric Phipps for transmission to London. The German press was loud in denunciation of the league action and Litvinov, the Soviet delegate, came in for most of the abuse because he delivered the chief-speech in support of the resolution at the council session. Just recently Germany granted to Russia credits amounting to $80,000,000. Poland also was assailed for "abandoning" Germany, but in Warsaw it was said by officials that Poland was still the friend of the reich. One newspaper there said quite truly that the complaint against Germany was "a formal matter because the discussion could not result in any actual solution of the problem, but only bring something like emotional relief."

Strange as it may seem, the Jews in Germany are warmly supporting Hitler in this controversy. The following message was sent to him: "The League of Nations German Jews stands unshaken in its loyalty to the Fatherland, and hopes the government's defense policy will not be changed on account of the Geneva proceedings." German resentment against Great Britain is especially warm because she feels she was deceived in the recent negotiations. Consequently she thinks Britain's prestige as a mediator in continental affairs is destroyed. During the council's discussion Tawfik Arras, the Turkish member, arose and stated flatly that if any changes in the existing treaties were made or tolerated, his country would claim the right to fortify the Dardanelles in violation of the treaty of Lausanne. He even hinted that the Turks might follow Hitler's example and not wait for permission. Sir John Simon's immediate and sharp reply was:

"I feel sure my honorable colleague will not expect me to say any more at this stage than that I must naturally make all reservations regarding it." Laval of France and Baron Aloisi of Italy supported Simon in his rebuke of the Turkish revisionism. Laval carried back to Paris a draft of the mutual assistance pact with Russia for submission to the French cabinet. Litvinov was still insistent that the two countries should enter into a real military alliance, and it may be that he will carry his point. In the opinion of many observers such a treaty would be declared invalid by the League of Nations.

WHEN the administration's great work relief program gets under way one of the most important parts of it, the purchase of material supplies, will have to be started at once, and it is expected that this will absorb about $1,700,000,000 of the total sum. According to a authoritative source in Washington, this part of the program will be supervised by Rear Admiral C. J. Peoples, procurement officer in the treasury. Peoples entered the navy supply corps in 1900 as assistant paymaster and later developed the navy's present purchasing system. When Franklin D. Roosevelt was assistant secretary of the navy he and Peoples became close friends. The admiral presumably will have full charge of drafting the regulations for material purchases but it is understood the actual buying of supplies for work relief projects will in most instances be handled by the states and other co-operating agencies. However, certain commodities, like cement, that will be needed in immense quantities, probably will be purchased centrally.

JUST as soon as the President says the word, the federal bureau of public roads and the various state highway departments are ready to jump into the work of grade crossing elimination, the building of arterial highways and similar projects. The work relief act earmarks $800,000,000 for such undertakings, and the sum may be increased by the President to a billion. The roads bureau already has $100,000,000 of grade crossing eliminations and other projects contracted for under authority granted by congress last year, officials revealed, and these contracts are to be met with work-relief money.

Arthur W. Brandt, president of the American Association of State Highway Officials, advised a congressional committee recently that states were prepared to wipe out 4,058 dangerous crossings if as much as $461,881,500 was made available.

SEVEN agencies of the government are organizing to combat the damage done by the constantly recurring dust storms. They are the AAA, farm credit administration, emergency relief administration, soil erosion service, bureau of plant industry and bureau of agricultural engineering.

The efforts, officials said, will include shipping feed, food and water into the stricken areas of Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Kansas and Colorado, starting work relief projects on roads, private lands and the public domain, planting of fast-growing and hardy crops as ground cover in areas where moisture conditions permit, and "listing" operations. This latter work is an attempt to prevent soil blowing away, by making alternate ridges and furrows.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT called Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi to the White House for a conference concerning the veterans' bonus bill, which already has passed the house. Harrison is chairman of the senate finance committee and the administration looked to him to devise a way to spike the measure which is so objectionable to the President in its present "green-back" form. Other majority leaders in congress also were busy with the problem, and the result was the introduction in congress of a compromise bill which it was believed the President would accept if it were passed.

Senator Harrison

This measure would make bonus certificates mature in 1938, instead of 1945. They could be converted immediately into 3 per cent bonds. Veterans who wanted cash right away could sell the bonds, losing only the interest they otherwise could obtain until 1938. Harrison said this would cost $500,000,000 more than the present bonus law, but far less than the Patman bill, passed by the house, to pay the bonus with $2,500,000,000 in new money. Milo Warner, vice commander of the American Legion, said this bill was "absolutely not acceptable" to that organization. Heads of veterans' organizations and various others were invited to testify at committee hearings on the bill.

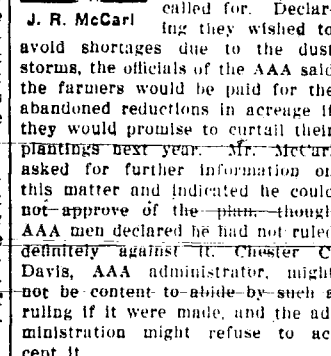

SENATOR HUEY LONG called together his complaints' legislature in Baton Rouge and ordered it to pass some new laws that would give him complete control of city finances, elections and expenditures of federal relief funds. Secretary Ickes went right up in the air and announced that if the laws were enacted Louisiana would get none of the public works money; whereupon the Kingfish told him he could go to the other regions, since the PWA money had already been deposited to the account of the New Orleans sewer and water board.

"The state court very properly recognizes our men as that board now, so how is it going to get his money back?" Long asked. "When he starts that, we'll show him what a smart man he ain't. If Ickes and the balance of the brain trust cabinet hold their breaths until we send for them, there'll be several corpses and the country will be better off."

WITHOUT any effort to break speed records, Capt. Edward A. Musick and five companions landed the big Pan-American Airway clipper ship Pioneer in Hawaii 18 hours and 31 minutes after they took off from Alameda, Calif. This was the first exploratory flight for a service that will soon be extended clear across the Pacific to Canton.

KING BORIS of Bulgaria has foiled another attempt to force him from his precarious throne. Upon discovery of an alleged Fascist plot, he ordered that three prominent political leaders be arrested and held in jail. Their friends sought to free them by storming the jail but were repulsed. Those seized are Alexander Zamboroff, leader of the Democratic party; Kozma Georgiev, head of the Macedonian party, and M. Natcheff, former police president of Sofia.

JOHN R. McCART, the able, efficient and independent comptroller general of the United States, has annoyed the New Dealers on several occasions. Now he threatens to block the plans of the AAA for lifting the restrictions on spring wheat planting and at the same time continuing to pay the farmers for crop reductions that would not be called for. Declaring they wished to avoid shortages due to the dust storms, the officials of the AAA said the farmers would be paid for the abandoned reductions in acreage if they would promise to curtail their plantings next year. Mr. McCart asked for further information on this matter and indicated he could not approve of the plan, though AAA men declared he had not ruled definitely against it. Chester C. Davis, AAA administrator, might not be content to abide by such a ruling if it were made, and the administration might refuse to accept it.

J. R. McCart

Mr. McCart, a Republican, holds his office under a law which specifies that the comptroller general shall be appointed to a 15-year term and can be removed only by death or impeachment. Nevertheless Attorney General Cummings, it is understood, gave it as his opinion that, like any other Presidential appointee, he could be removed at the pleasure of the President. He based this opinion on a ruling of the Supreme court in the case of a postmaster who was ousted by President Coolidge, the court holding that the President was within his rights under Article 2 of the Constitution. So it may be the New Dealers will seek to have Mr. McCart ousted before his term expires in 1936, for it is feared by them that he will hamper the expenditure of the $4,880,000,000 work relief appropriation to an extent that would greatly irritate the Democratic party leaders.

It is interesting to read that the Nebraska Progressive league, made up of liberal Republicans, is planning the organization of "McCart for President" clubs in that state and afterward in all others. George W. Kline, its chairman, says he was asked to support McCart for President in 1936 by friends of Senator George W. Norris. The comptroller general is a graduate of the University of Nebraska law school and for years was Mr. Norris' secretary.

ALLEGED teaching of Communism in some of our universities and the adoption of that cult by a large number of half-baked young men and women in those institutions has long been debated and denounced by patriotic citizens. Student strikes and small riots have been frequent, and there have been many demands for the suppression of these reds and plunks. The latest big institution of learning to be brought into the limelight in this matter is the University of Chicago, whose faculty contains several decidedly radical instructors and its student body many youthful followers of Marx and Lenin. Because of charges made by a prominent drug store magnate the Illinois senate has just adopted a resolution calling for a "thorough and complete investigation" by a senatorial committee of five to determine whether any foundation exists for charges that "subversive Communist teachings" are going on in "wholly or partly tax-exempt colleges and universities of this state."

The action of the senate followed within a few hours action by the house in passing almost unanimously a bill to require an oath of allegiance and obedience to the state and federal constitutions from all teachers and professors. The legislatures of other states are passing similar laws.

OVER in Turkey the women, until recently, were forced to lead lives of seclusion in the harem and to go veiled when in public. But all that is changed. The other day the twelfth congress of the International Alliance of Women for Suffrage and Equal Citizenship opened in Istanbul with about thirty nations represented and Mrs. Corbett Ashby of England in the chair, and the women of Turkey, unveiled and in modish European garb, were the proud hostesses of the hundreds of delegates. Among the questions discussed were: The situation and rights of women; the position of women in the liberal professions; the political and civil rights of women; the means women can use to prevent war.

Under Kemal's rule the women of the republic of Turkey have been granted parliamentary and city votes and have entered enthusiastically into all branches of life, civil, professional, industrial and sporting.

Week At Lansing

(By FRANK D. BROWN, Special Correspondent)

Events at the capitol this week recalled to the minds of many state attaches those stirring days back in 1894 when "General" Coxe and his famous "army" set out from eastern Ohio to take Washington by storm. Perhaps less spectacular, but somewhat more gratifying in results was the march on Lansing participated in by approximately 500 coal miners from the Saginaw valley district who presented in person their demand that the legislature pass the bill making it mandatory for state institutions to burn Michigan-mined coal.

The pilgrimage was not without its comical features. Neither was it without its more serious aspects. Arriving in town Tuesday afternoon, the housing problem soon became acute as the shadows of night bore down and the major portion of the huge delegation proceeded to convert the House and Senate into large-scale "flop houses." Sergeants-at-arms were hard pressed to clear the speaker's rostrum, the lieutenant governor's desk and the various committee rooms of their human bulks in order to permit the nightly renovation of the two chambers.

The miners finally left Lansing in an orderly fashion Wednesday afternoon when the House, after affixing a myriad of bewildering amendments, passed the bill. For them it was a complete victory—for the legislators it was just another laugh. As sent to the governor, the measure means practically nothing as far as aiding the coal mining industry of this state. There are so many "ifs and ands" written into it that the miners' only consolation seems to be the fact that they compelled the lawmakers to take speedy action for once.

Coupled with this influx of militant citizens is the feud between Gov. Fitzgerald and the one-time all-powerful Wayne county figure, John C. Gillespie. Even this incident is not without its amusing ramifications; all of which have added zest to the developments of the week.

Gillespie is reported amongst the missing while state and federal authorities extend their search for him. The seriousness with which his reported threats are regarded by the executive office can only be verified by the presence of the state troopers who loiter about the innermost sanctum as a precautionary step against the Detroit gentleman's appearance, with gun in hand, to wreak vengeance on the governor. The reaction grows out of a dispute over certain policies of the liquor control commission; it should be regarded as personal and political, and of no great concern to the taxpayers of Michigan. Gov. Fitzgerald is simply trying to rid his administration of a certain undesirable element that has attached itself to previous administrations. Apparently he is going to "carry through."

Senate and House calendars—those daily bulletins, which set forth the work of the hour to be disposed of—are growing by leaps and bounds. The daily agenda in both houses is reaching the proportions of no less than 50 items to be considered, debated and voted on. The increasing volume of work gives those of us who want the session to terminate real encouragement that the end cannot be many weeks in the offing. Night sessions of the legislature are now the vogue.

The supreme court has entered the picture of specific exemptions from the three-cent sales taxes. An opinion handed down by the tribunal during the past few days denies manufacturers exemptions for processing goods. The ruling is regarded as having a very definite bearing on the bill now in the senate committee which would place a dozen or so items of foodstuffs on the free list. Without a constitutional amendment relative to the rule of uniform taxation, it is feared that the entire sales tax law might become inoperative should the legislature deem it advisable to pass the exemption measure now pending.

Senator Andrew L. Moore (R), of Pontiac, chairman of the taxation committee of the upper house and one of the real leaders of this session, has proposed that the powers of the state sales tax division be enlarged so as to permit discretionary action on the part of the division in allowing certain worthy exemptions. This proposal, however, is meeting with some opposition on the grounds that the sales tax administrators might abuse their powers should their authority be expanded to such an extent.

Action of both houses was slowed up somewhat toward the end of the week by the absence of four senators and four representatives who were sent Thursday morning to Berrien county to conduct a recount in the second judicial circuit. A friendly suit, taken, "he

Each year the Ford has widened its appeal by increasing its usefulness to motorists. . . It reaches out and up into new fields because it has everything you need in a modern automobile. . . form of a petition asking the legislature to decide which of the two candidates is entitled to the judgeship, resulted in a bi-partisan delegation of lawmakers being sent to St. Joseph to open ballot boxes and conduct a recount. The results of the official canvass in that county revealed that the democratic candidate for the office had defeated his republican opponent by only two votes. Neither candidate, according to the petition filed with the legislature, wishes to take over the office under any cloud of doubt.

The procedure in this case is quite in contrast with that earlier this year when the democrats under the leadership of Senator A. J. Wilkowski of Detroit attempted by "shady" methods to count Major Wilson into the office of secretary of state. By the way, Senator Wilkowski is still holding forth in Lansing and is making every effort to reinstate himself in the good graces of his many associates, who, naturally, are skeptical regarding his ideas of representing the people of the state. Personally, Wilkowski is quite affable, but he appears woefully lacking in many of the essential qualities that might gain for him general regard as a reliable public servant.

With visions of perhaps losing lucrative possibilities, senate lawyers banded together early in the week to defeat the Palmer "heart balm" measure which would have prevented unjustified suits of a martial nature. The bill may be revived later. The measure was patterned after those laws recently enacted by the Indiana and New York assemblies. An interesting sidelight on the history of this bill is the fact that the introducer, Senator William Palmer (D), of Flint, happens to be the senate's only bachelor.

The Senate education committee has been weighing a plan to turn over to the school districts of the state the $3,500,000 saving from the abrogation of the state property tax which was written into law last week. The proposal would be accompanied by a $5,000,000 reduction in the $25,000,000 school appropriation which bill now rests in the senate committee.

Proceeding along the line that the newly elected superintendent of public instruction, M. L. Keyworth is favoring the maximum appropriation, the Michigan Education Association of School Board Members are conducting a formidable lobby at the capitol in an effort to bring about passage of the appropriation measure which the governor already has frowned upon. Unless Gov. Fitzgerald "about face," the school people are going to be plenty disappointed even tho they are successful in talking the senate into passing this bill as is. The governor, as stated previously, has assured your correspondent that he will not accept anything more than $20,000,000 in this bill. With the governor, it is purely a matter of trying to balance the state's budget as against certain unreasonable demands from "paid representatives" of the school lobby who have been operating in Lansing since the writer first became interested in state goings-on.

These final few weeks of the "Lansing merry-go-round" are bound to be weeks of much bewilderment to the average layman. With budget bills, other appropriation measures, and whatnot, "popping" out of committees at the rate of a dozen or more every day, it is little wonder that few of us know what has really taken place until that "statesmen" have retired and there is ample opportunity for sound evaluation.

Private interests and personal aggrandizement characterize this session like every other session since time immemorial. The big criticism that I have to offer is nothing more or less than: Michigan (like every other state, with Washington, D. C., included) has too many public servants "playing to the galleries" with little or no regard for what the consequences may be for the people "back home" who perpetuate such a condition by paying out their hard-earned money in taxes.

TO HELEN

By ANNE CAMPBELL

THE fabric of your friendship never wears. Nor does it gather dust and pull apart. It falls with tenderness upon the cares. That press, when evening comes, upon my heart. It is a shawl to keep my shoulders warm. When all the world is cold, and chill winds blow. It is protection from the winter storm. And shade in summer from the hot sun's glow.

The fabric of your friendship, woven fine. With all the beauty of your lovely thought. Embroidered in an infinite design. By wisdom that your garnered years have taught, is to my life the same as the blue sky.

To the tired earth—a background that is sure. When all these lovely years have drifted by. The fabric of your friendship will endure.

Question Box By ED WYNN The Perfect Fool

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I read in the papers of a taxidermist who took a lion and skinned him alive. Do you believe this? If so, how did he do it?

Sincerely,
SY. ATICA.

Answer: First he caught the lion. Then he covered him with porous plaster, then he pulled them off again.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

My son, ten years of age, goes to public school. He now has the mumps. Should I keep him from school? Yours truly,
G. ATTEL.

Answer: Let him go to school till some of the other boys catch the mumps, then he will have some one to play with when you keep him out of school.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I am a young Irish girl. Just arrived in this country. I will have to work in order to live, as I am a poor girl. I am undecided what kind of work to do. Do you think it is all right for me to get a job at light housekeeping? Yours truly,
EMMA GRANT.

Answer: Yes. But first find out where the lighthouse is located and if you can get off on Thursdays.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I read in the newspapers that the Statue of Liberty's right hand measures 11 1/4 inches. Is that true and if so why did they make it just 11 1/4 inches? Yours truly,
HUGH GOTTA SHOWME.

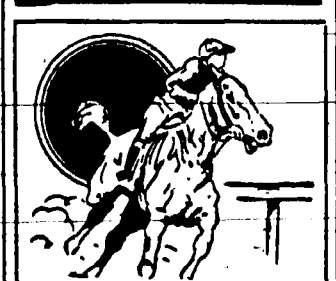

Answer: Her hand was made 11 1/4 inches long because the sculptor knew that if he made her hand 12 inches long it would have been a foot.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

For years I have watched kettles on a stove just to see the steam come out. It has always fascinated me and yet, I must admit, I cannot understand what makes it come out. Please explain to me why the steam comes out of the kettle. Yours truly,
I. B. DARNED.

Answer: The reason steam comes out of a kettle is simply so a wife can open her husband's letters without the husband knowing it. & the Associated Newspapers, WNU Service.

ITALIAN GOOD THINGS

IN ITALIAN recipes calling for grated cheese the correct mixture is one-third Gruyere and two-thirds Parmesan.

Risotto a la Milanaisa.

This is a very thick soup which, with the poor, is put on the bread, thus making a substantial meal. For use at a dinner it should be considerably diluted. Cut up half of a large onion in fine pieces, add butter the size of an egg and fry to a bright brown, add one pound of washed and soaked rice and one quart of bouillon. Cook until the grains are soft but not crushed. Set the dish aside to keep hot, add one-fourth pound of grated cheese and two ounces of butter. Season with white pepper, salt if needed, and a bit of nutmeg.

Potage au Chou.

Boil one-half pound of rice and the heart of firm cabbage in boiling salted water until tender. Drain and chop the cabbage in large rough pieces. Put back into the soup pan with three ounces of butter, three onions minced, and lightly fried in the butter, add one quart of good soup stock, salt and mixed spice. Boil up for half an hour. Set aside and add grated cheese to flavor the soup before serving.

Herring or Mackerel a l'italienne. Split and trim, removing the heads and tails of the fish. Let the fish soak four hours in seasoned oil and vinegar. Use salt, pepper, sliced onion and chopped parsley. Drain and dust them with flour and fry them in oil. Serve crisp and hot.

Egg Entree.

Peel one-fourth of a pound of onions and one-half pound of mushrooms, add a clove of garlic and cut into strips. Fry in three ounces of butter until the onions begin to color. Add a teaspoon of flour, salt, pepper and let that color, then thin with stock to make a sauce, season to taste and simmer half an hour. Cut the whites of six cooked eggs into strips, leaving the yolks whole, add to the sauce and when thoroughly heated, serve.

The Perfect Fool

Dear Mr. Wynn:

My husband, August H. Paige, rents a store from a big corporation. His rent is due the last of every month. The corporation has written a letter, saying: "Unless your husband, August, pays his rent on the thirty-first of this month, August, he will have to give up the store." It isn't possible for him to pay his rent, as business has been bad. What can we do about it?

Yours truly,

Answer: Your letter was a long time coming because of delays in the foreign mails, but just to show you what accurate predictions I can make I'll say that it looks to me as if the first of September saw the last of August.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I am keeping company with a young lady. Last night I called on her to tell her I loved her. She didn't answer me. I told her I had bought the engagement ring. Still she said nothing. She acted as if she didn't hear me. When I said the engagement ring had two large diamonds and an extra large emerald, she heard me. How do you account for these actions on her part?

Sincerely,

AL KOHOL.
Answer: As your sweetheart didn't hear you till you mentioned the diamonds and the emerald it is quite evident that she is STONE deaf.

Dear Mr. Wynn: Have you heard the reports about making umbrellas square? If this is true, can you give a good, sound reason for this radical change?

Sincerely,

I CARRIE WON.
Answer: Yes, it is true that in the future umbrellas are to be made square. That is because it is unsafe to leave them round.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

My friend told me his uncle just returned from a trip abroad and while in England the king gave him a royal title. I asked him what it was and he said his title was "Saturday." What does that mean?

Yours truly,

O. SHUN.
Answer: Judging by his title "Saturday," I guess that means "Knight of the Bath."

Dear Mr. Wynn:

Why do men wear beads?
Truly yours,
BERR NETT.
Answer: Simply because their wives pick out their neckties.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I am simply crazy over John McCormack. He sings beautifully. I am studying voice, too. I am from Ireland. I hear John McCormack is from Ireland, too. If this is true could you tell me what night?

Yours truly,

DORA MENFA.
Answer: All of him.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

Last night, accidentally, of course, I tumbled into a woman and nearly knocked her over. I apologized, but she called me a "bum." I told her that I was not a bum but in fact a well-known dentist. She then said if I really was a dentist that she was sure I was a bum. What could she have meant by saying a dentist and a bum are the same thing?

Truly yours,

PATRICIA LEBBEY TRACKSUN.
Answer: Because the dentist who pulled out her teeth was a bum.

Camp News

Camp Higgins

Tuesday night April 23rd, conservation officers talked to members of this organization on forest fire fighting and conservation subjects. Following the speeches moving pictures furnished by the forestry service were shown. There was a good attendance.

Seventy-six Chevrolet trucks of various description for MECW work in the lower peninsula were delivered to Camp Higgins Lake Thursday and Friday of last week. There are 42 other units also to be delivered. The equipment is guarded on the parade ground in front of the camp headquarters building, and is shortly to be distributed to the camps.

A classroom has been provided for classes at this camp and shortly after arrival of the rookies the educational adviser intends to start a number of new classes. Previous to construction of this classroom groups met in the mess hall, recreational room, or educational office. The recreational room has been eliminated, the space being needed for quartering of new men.

Because he is slated for work at the MECW warehouse at Roscommon Paul Lane is to be transferred to the Pioneer CCC camp. It is understood he will be working in the drafting room.

First call for hardball and softball candidates for company teams was issued last week. Camp Higgins Lake has enjoyed the district championship title for every season and it is hoped to keep up the good record again this summer. Already requests for games with other camps have been received.

Chaplain Louis J. Paquette arrived at district headquarters last Thursday evening to succeed Chaplain John Samuel, who goes to the fifth sub-district after having been here a little over a week. Capt. E. W. Todd, formerly chaplain here, is now at Camp Custer. Chaplain Paquette has already been on CCC duty several months. He is of the Catholic clergy.

There were but few men in camp over Sunday, most of them going home for Easter.

A new library of 40 well-selected books was put in circulation here last week. Recently library circulation has been boosted in this camp to a figure that shows CCC enrollees are definitely inclined to read good literature.

Capt. McCullough, Lieut. Shor, and Lieut. Katzman were busy during last week with recruiting duties. With the expansion of the CCC and raising of the enrollment period to 18 months the recruiting has become a matter of first importance, as it is desired to provide work relief and to accomplish forestry projects while weather conditions are most favorable.

Camp Au Sable

Eighty-two new enrollees from Detroit and Wayne County arrived in Camp early Good Friday morning. They were all lined up and "shot" soon after sunrise by Dr. Raff. But you can't keep these men down, and they have been showing unmistakable signs of life ever since Easter. Of course the rookies are a little bit green, and some of the old men will soon have them painting the barracks with invisible paint, or paying a head tax on the fish they are going to catch in the AuSable river, or negotiating for the purchase of the flagpole.

Our command has sent in requests for $3,600 worth of improvements, and if we get em, then indeed our men will have reached the Promised Land. In that Biblical country they don't have flush toilets even yet, and neither has AuSable—yet, but we've got our hopes up.

Within the week fishermen will be coming up this way, and we should like to extend to them our welcome to Camp AuSable. Drop in and see us any old time. We've still got a telephone.

Look For Tagged Trout On N. Branch

Last summer the Institute for Fisheries Research, Ann Arbor, conducted some trout stream evaluation work on the North Branch of the AuSable. Part of the program included tagging some 1600 trout on lower left jaws, in the section between Lovells and Dam 2.

Signs have been posted telling about this work. When tagged fish are caught return all tags together with the species of trout (brook, brown or rainbow), where caught in the stream, how long they are, and the tag number. Tags will be returned to the fishermen with a letter telling where the fish were tagged, date of tagging and how long they were at that time. Send information to Lovells Post Office, Conservation Department, Lansing; or Institute for Fisheries Research, Ann Arbor, Michigan.

We need not point out to you the value of these returns both from a scientific and practical point of view. This tagging work is carried on in order that the Institute for Fisheries Research and the Conservation Department may know more about the habits of the trout in the AuSable, and be better able to formulate policies regarding their welfare.

The results from last summer's work were quite promising, and if we can obtain similar numbers of returns in the coming season through the cooperation of the fishermen and through our seining operations we will have made quite a step forward in solving some of the facts that have up to now been relatively only guessed at.

Taking this opportunity to wish all the Crawford County fishermen a pleasant season full of good fishing, I remain,
Very truly yours,

David S. Shetter,
In Charge of Tagging Operations.

Everything Ready For Trout Fest

The West Branch Chamber of Commerce got together Thursday night of last week and sewed up plans for that community's fourth annual Trout Festival.

As general chairman Henry Schultzy outlined an elaborate program and detailed the work in connection with the event. May 3-4-5 are the dates for this heralded and official highlight for the trout season.

Schultzy says many reservations are already in and that the hotels are filling rapidly, but that there will be accommodations for everyone.

In pushing to the limit its scenic trails and drives, West Branch inaugurates an event on its program which will no doubt attract many visitors.

There will be parades, dances, queen coronations, and all the usual events that go to make up a festival.

Would Auction Farm Stock

Bruce Convis, representing the Breckenridge Auction Sales Company, of Breckenridge, Mich., was in Grayling Saturday to look over the live stock conditions in Crawford county. This Company conducts an auction sale of live stock at Breckenridge every Tuesday, starting at 10:30 A. M. The auction is visited by representatives of many packing houses not only from the central states but from eastern markets as well. Farmers raising live stock may truck same to the auction center and for a small fee can have it sold by competent auctioneers. Fees run all the way from 15c for small shoats to $1.50 for a cow and calf. Mr. Convis says that with freight and truck service so convenient from station farmers no longer need to depend upon local markets for their livestock, and that farmers by the auction method, find an increased market and better prices. Already some of our local farmers are planning to use the services of this Company.
